Our estimated holiday shipping dates are based on several factors, including the destination address, the shipping options you've chosen, and how quickly we can assemble items for shipment. Once an order is placed and stock availability is confirmed by our distribution center, your package should arrive according to the schedule posted above. If any item has a Backorder indicator beside it, you can still order the item, however there may be a delivery delay beyond the normal shipping time (up to 30 days for Backordered items). Orders are typically not shipped on Saturdays, Sundays or National Holidays.
